

HOMEWORK

WASHINGTON GIFTED SCHOOL

GOOD NEWS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Beginning this second grading period, students and parents will be able to access the homework assignments directly from the teachers' web sites. This method will allow the students to have the most-to-date information regarding assignments. Teachers also have the flexibility to give more detailed information than they previously could with the office homework site. Teachers will keep all worksheets and packets in their classrooms. Students are to check with each teacher when they return from being absent. Packets of information will no longer be kept in the office.

Getting to the web sites is easy by following one of two ways:

Staff ...to find each teacher you need

If students are in school, it is very important they write down their assignments. The homework site is really meant as a back-up to what was given in class.

A special thank you is extended to Mrs. Mary Yates, our school's "web master," who conducted a workshop for our teachers on September 18, 2009, to assist teachers in creating their web sites. Teachers have had since that date to become comfortable with entering information for students and parents. We hope you will enjoy the change!
